

I am outraged that Sinclair Broadcasting is helping the Bush campaign, by airing an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. This is clearly an attempt to deceive the public, make powerful corporations rule America instead of its citizens, and subvert democracy to a meaningless word.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
